THE ARTESIAN WELL TROUGH.-This indispensable watering place is now in a dilapidated condition, and demands immediate repairs.

The troughs all leak badly, and two of them are empty. The animals who used to slake their thirst at these troughs now gaze sadly at the sloppy ground and doubtless think "water, water all around, and not a drop to drink." AN ACQUISITION TO OUR GERMAN FELLOW-CITIZENS .- We learn by the Zeitung that Professor Herman Meier arrived in this city on Tuesday, from Germany via New York. The Professor took an active part in promoting emigration to South Carolina from the Lower Weser, being at the time the editor and proprietor of the "Unterweser Zeitung," a conservative Democratic paper. He was strongly Southern in his feelings, and the course adopted by his journal rendered him so unpopular that he was forced to leave the country. He has come here with the intention of making this his home, and as he is a gentleman of education and a fine writer and speaker, he will be a great acquisition to our German fellow-citizens. Professor Meier will address the German Democratic Club at their next meet-

THE ELECTIONS ON THE THIRD OF NOVEM-ER. We desire to direct attention to a notice published this morning, by order of the Commissioners of Elections, by which it will be seen that the registration which begins tomorrow and closes on Tuesday, is, in fact, if not in name, a wholl, new registration. Every voter who has not previously registered must then register his name in the precinct in which he lives, and voters who have registered already must go to the voting places and see that their names are properly registered. The necessity for this new registration grows out of the manner in which the old registration was conducted under military authority. Take for example the Washington Engine House. At that place, in Ward 6, were registered the voters of Wards 6 and 8. The one polling place was used for both wards, and the registration books showed whether the person who offered to vote was duly qualified. But now there are four polling precincts in these two wards instead of one-two precincts in Ward 6 and two in Ward 8. The registration books do not give the address of the voter, and unless something were done to prevent fraud, any resident of Ward 6 or 8 might vote at the engine house where the books would be, as well as at each of the other precincts in each ward where there would be no registration books. It has therefore been decided that no man can vote who is not registered at the place at which he offers to vote. All the residents of Washington Engine House, must register at the engine house must go and see that their name is there registered. The rule is the same throughout the city, and no man will be sure of being able to vote unless he, on one of the three days named, either registers his name in the precinct in which he resides and must vote.

registered. THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.-The following letter from one of the Managers of Elections and the decision, in reply, of the Hon. D. T. Corbin, Chairman of the Board of Commissioners, will be of great interest at this time. The Commissioners decide that no person can vote who is not duly registered, and the place where he has been registered: CHARLESTON, October 22, 1868.

Hon. D. T. Corbin:

SIR-As Managers of Election we would decide that a man living in the county has the cide that a man living in the county has the right to vote at the nearest polling place, upon his oath that he is a registered voter, and, therefore, entitled to vote anywhere in the county for county offices, or anywhere in the Congressional District for Congressmen.

We would respectfully submit our decision, and ask your approval if right.

Very respectfully,

L. BUNCH,
Chairman ward No. 8.

Bunch, Esg., Chairman Manager of Elec-tions, Eighth Ward: SIE—Yours of this date is received, in which Sim-Yours of this date is received, in which you say your Board has come to the conclusion that a man living in the county has a right to vote at the nearest volling place, (stating) upon his oath, that he is a registered voter, and he is entitled to vote anywhere in the county for county officers—anywhere in the Congressional District for Congressmen."

THE THEATRE. - A good andience graced the theatre last night to witness the Charleston Firemen. This was an amusing farce that took well, but bore no particular reference to Charleston. Alice Vane and John Templeton sustained the principal characters, and were loudly applauded. The after piece, The Happy Man, was a play founded on the Arabian Knights' story of the Caliph and the Cobbler. It was admirably rendered, and Webster, as Paddy Murphy, fully sastained his character as a superior comedian. The tedium of waiting between the plays was relieved by the distribution of slices of cake, in one of which was a ring, which was received by a young lady. "ONE MORE UNFORTUNATE."-The presentation of gifts at the theatre last night was perhaps the most amusing part of the performance. The councisseur of ugliness who awards the tin cup is watched with anxious eyes, and a long breath is drawn when he passes the seat. Unfortunately the press cannot boast of many Apolio Belvideres, and the 'knights of the oni...' stand pre-eminent before the community for their ughness. One suffered in Columbia, another a few nights since, but the crowning triumph-the close of the rubber-was reserved for a brother chip who occapies the same tripod with the first victim. Honors are not even and, the game is closed.

GOSSIP FROM WASHINGTON .- The Washington papers tell us that John Quincy Adams, in cinct to which they belong, according to the role published this day, and all the role published this day, and all the role rule with President Johnson. Ward 8, therefore, must register in the pre- company with Ex-Governor Orr, visited and role published this day; and all the residents of In this connection it may be remarked that Ward 6, whose voting place is no longer the Mr. Adams, our late visitor, is not, as has been generally supposed, a son of ex-President the Ice House, while those who still vote at John Quincy Adams. He is the elder son of Caarles Francis Alams, our late Minister to England, grandson of President John Quincy Adams, and great-grandson of President John Adams. The living John Quincy Adams is about thirty-five years of age, is one of the hardest working and ablest members of the Suffolk bar, in Massachusetts. He always acted with the Republican party proper, as he has several times stated in his recent speeches, until the holding of the National Union Convention in Philadelphia, in 1866, to which he was appointed a delate from Ma sachusotts by the Conservative Republicans. He was brought forward as the Democratic nominee for Governor of Massachusetts last year, and is again nominated for the same office, to be voted for at the election in November.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS.

We regret exceedingly that the friends of Colonel Patten are pushing him forward in connection with the Mayoralty election, as it is a well known fact that Colonel Patten is not a Linen and Paper Collars, all styles, in great variety resident of the city, he having a plantation in Christ Church Parish where he may be found daily, devoting all his energies to the development of its products. We do hope that these injudicious friends of Colonel Patten will see the necessity of withdrawing his name from any further connection with the canvass, as it must be apparent to all good citizens that only a man identified with the interests of the city can succeed in saving us from anarchy and ruin. A word to the wise is sufficient. PONEER.
